

NOISE & BREITHAUPT

There is Noise and Breithaupt since the beginning of 2012. Behind it hides Leon Noise, who produces his own tracks in the area Tech/DeepHouse since 2001. But he is also takes an active part as a DJ behind the decks for at least 4 years now. Second in the alliance is Frank Breithaupt. Frank became established in the techno-scene now since 24 years. He experienced the origin of the techno-scene and had to demonstrate his abilities early what he still does even today.

They both have become acquainted on an event in their hometown Stralsund. As they were noticing that they are similar in their special equipment, it came to a cooperation of both artists.

Frank plays on 4 tracks and lets go his native instruments machine in the background, with which he can head for different samples. Therefore every set transforms into an exciting experience.

Leon does very similar additionally to the Traktor DJ program he is playing Ableton live in the background, which he is able to trigger with a controller. According to that every set of them become something special. Trough the given conditions, the boys decided to play together as a duet.

Already after the first year both noticed that also productional they have to go one step forward. No a half year later the first ideas were worked out and a small, snug studio was furnished. Listening to the tracks, one can notice fastly that the two have their own individual style.

What one also notices is that the two boys foreground their audience. With their sets they are trying to reach everybody and to make everybody dancing.
